Why a near-perfect overlap at low retention is not a recovery result